

Supporting Students with ADHD –Strategies That Work- Jr/Sr High

Are you a Jr/Sr high school teacher who is currently teaching a student with ADHD? Are you looking for additional strategies to support these learners? Please join Caley Wolf whose expertise as both a mother of an ADHD child and as an experienced educator will benefit you in your classroom practice.

Caley Wolf is an expert on ADHD with her Masters in Education. With experience working in both the private, public, and international educational environments, she has worked with many diverse students, whether it was culturally or having their own learning needs. After her son was diagnosed with ADHD, she realized that there was a need for a better understanding of how children with ADHD learn and function.

She has taken certification courses in Changing the ADHD Brain: Moving Beyond Medication, ADHD Treatment for Children & Adults: Proven Strategies to Self-Regulate, Stay on Task & Manage Anxiety & Intense Emotions and - Executive Function, ADHD and Stress in the Classroom. She is currently enrolled in Strength-based Interventions to Thrive with ADHD from Childhood to Adulthood certification.

With over 17 years of experience teaching and working with students with learning difficulties, and training from some of the top psychologists in the field, Caley has made it her mission to help others to understand ADHD as she believes that knowledge leads to change.
